

---

Retraction Notice

---

We regret to inform you that the article is hereby retracted.

After careful review and assessment, it has been determined that there are significant issues associated with the publication of this article.

The decision to retract this article was not taken lightly and follows a thorough investigation by the editorial board of the journal "Sustainable Energy And Environment Review". We understand the importance of maintaining the credibility and trustworthiness of scholarly publications, and in light of the identified concerns, we believe retraction is the appropriate course of action.

We sincerely apologize for any inconvenience or confusion that this retraction may cause to our readers.

---